SLAMM! 2019
Program

SLAMM! 2019 is sponsored by the Society for Political Methodology, American University's School of Public Affair's Center for Data Science, and the Department of Political Science at Southern Illinois University.

8:00am–8:45am   Continental breakfast and check-in for the conference

8:45am–9:00am   Welcome and Introductions

9:00am–10:15am   On the Use of MRP-Generated Estimates as Independent and Dependent Variables
Michael Sances (Memphis) and Joshua Clinton (Vanderbilt)
Discussant: Tobin Grant (Southern Illinois)

10:15am–10:45am   Coffee break

10:45am–12:00pm   Bayesian Hierarchical Modeling with IRT
Yanyan Sheng (Southern Illinois, Quantitative Methods)
Discussant: Fred Solt (Iowa)

12:00am–1:00pm   Lunch

1:00pm–2:15pm   Machine Unlearning: Adjusting Automatically for Human Biases in Decision Making
Ines Levin (UC Irvine)
Discussant: Banafsheh Rekabdar (Southern Illinois, Computer Science)

2:15pm–2:45pm   Coffee break

2:45pm–4:00pm   A Theorem Concerning Missing Data
Keith Poole (Georgia), Sarah Gail Hunter (Georgia), and Jason Anastasopoulos (Georgia) [Note: Remote presentation via skype]
Discussant: Jeff Gill (American)

4:00pm – 5:00pm   Break (posters set up during this time)

5:00pm–7:00pm   Dinner, drinks, and poster session

Information Spillovers and Corruption Voting in Brazil
Gustavo Diaz

The Hard Lessons of Authority: How Subordinates Learn in the US Hierarchy
Cody Schmidt

Patterns and dynamics of treaty diffusion
Ki Eun Ryu

Invisible Potholes: Examining Bias in the Delivery of Municipal Services
Min Hee Seo

The Mobilizing Effect of Parties & Moral Rhetoric
Jae-Hee Jung